

Friday, October 16th

Dear Friends of the Mysterious,

We are planning to celebrate Halloween by taking our first adventure to Philadelphia's Eastern State Penitentiary's *Terror Behind the Walls exhibition. This haunted tour of the Penitentiary attracts crowds from three states for two months each year.

The date of our haunted adventure is Friday, October 16th. Our bus leaves the Museum for Philly at 5 pm. Wine and cheese will be served on our ride and haunted house stories will be encouraged. We have reserved 40 admission tickets and 40 specially-designed dinners, so please reserve early for this fantastic evening.

Our first stop will be Jack's Firehouse, which is located across the street from the Penitentiary. The three-course meal features a number of choices, including: Severed chicken wings, Mummified Salmon, Smoked Slab of Ribs, and Buried Alive in Chocolate, to name a few. Our costumed waiters have a few tricks up their sleeves to make it a fun meal.

We will then walk over to our 8:30 pm tour of Terror Behind the Walls. We will return to the bus at 10 pm. Cookies will be served to anyone who hasn't had their appetites scared out of them by the tour.

The total price is $110 per person. We believe this is an adult or mature teen event. Please go to www.easternstate.org/halloween/ to see a virtual mini-tour of the experience. Costumes are optional, but good walking shoes are a must!

This is going to be an awesome trip. I hope to hear from you soon.

Frightfully,

Avis H. Anderson
